Experience

A former finance broker, in 2016 Monica Parvin swapped her desk and office for a tractor and 15-acre olive grove in South Australia's renowned McLaren Vale food and wine production region.

While travelling the huge learning curve of grove maintenance and olive production, she also set about learning as much as she could about olive oil. Participation in the International Extra Virgin Olive Oil Savantes tasting course in 2017 saw her become the highest scoring Australian Associate Savante to date.

Since then she's continued to hone her tasting skills as an olive oil judge, and hands-on through the annual production and blending of her own Romley Estate extra virgin olive oils.
Romley Estate's high quality oils have consistently won medals and trophies at both state and national competitions in recent years, most recently taking two Champion of Class Awards at the 2020 Australian International Olive Awards.
